JUNE - JULY 2007 | ISSUE 26 | Priceless

City of Melbourne to welcome Docklands

On 1 July 2007, Docklands becomes part of the City of Melbourne municipality. This means that from this date, Docklands residents and businesses will also be City of Melbourne residents and businesses. Services offered and delivered to these groups in all other parts of the municipality will extend to Docklands.

All ratepayers will also be eligible to vote in Melbourne City Council elections, with the next elections due in November 2008.

VicUrban has been responsible for the municipal management of Docklands since 1999, and will remain as both the development agency and a key stakeholder in the management of the precinct.

The City of Melbourne will be taking direct responsibility for services such as street cleaning and waste management, park maintenance, waterway management and a new maternal and child health service.

For the past 12 months the City of Melbourne has been undertaking many of these activities under contract to VicUrban so a seamless as possible transition is envisaged.

In early July, Docklands residents can expect to receive a 'Welcome Pack', which will include all the information needed to assist in this transition.

In the meantime, if residents have any questions about the transition, please call the City of Melbourne on 9658 9658, visit www.melbourne.vic.gov.au or read more in this edition of Docklands Community News.

Wonderland snowballs into a huge event

After much anticipation, the fantastic Docklands Winter Wonderland is returning to entice the young at heart with a world of winter experiences.

From Saturday 30 June until Sunday 15 July, locals of all ages will be grabbing their skates and heading to the giant Snow Dome at Waterfront City.

Six ice skating sessions will run daily from 9am on a large rink, with figure and speed skating demonstrations. Due to popular demand, the night skate sessions will now include Thursday, Friday and Saturday nights, where skaters can groove to DJ tunes and win many prizes. There will be two sessions a night from 7pm to 10pm. Bookings are essential.

With the timing perfect for school holidays, children will love throwing snowballs at the snowman target, plus free stage shows will feature The Jelly Bugs and Terry the Magician's wintery magic show. Add to this a real snow slide, bigger and better carnival rides to suit all ages, and roving entertainers. Winter Wonderland characters will be available for delightful photos, including Pete the Penguin, Sam the Snowman or Paris the Polar Bear.

When families need a break from the thrills and spills, they can head to the Chill Out Zone where large screen televisions will entertain children, while parents relax in the warm café area.

From the Editor

What an exciting time for Docklands with new, vibrant businesses opening up, and the area becoming part of the City of Melbourne as of 1 July 2007. This will affect the future of Docklands Community News (DCN).

The City of Melbourne prepares a six-weekly publication entitled Melbourne News, circulated to residents, businesses and rate-payers, containing information about Council services, programs and initiatives. From July 2007, Melbourne News, will be extended into the Docklands precinct.

Mediation Communications, publisher of DCN for the past three years, has indicated it would like to continue with the publication, which is an advertising avenue for Docklands businesses (Melbourne News is an ad free publication).

The City of Melbourne will be editing one more edition of DCN, which will be the August-September edition. From October 2007, Mediation will be editing DCN, in addition to designing, printing and distributing the publication.

The City of Melbourne and VicUrban would like to wholeheartedly thank everyone who has worked on or contributed to DCN over the past years, and wish Mediation success in the future editions of DCN.

You will find a copy of Melbourne News in your 'Welcome Pack', which will be distributed to residents in July.

On another note, congratulations to DCN writer Inouk Arnall, who had a beautiful baby girl last month.

Docklands family hub plan

The City of Melbourne is set to open a Maternal and Child Health service at The Hub in Docklands, dedicated to the wellbeing of the local community.

Demand for children's health services has been driven by the huge increase in birth rates in Melbourne; 415 infants were born in 2001-02, rising to 619 in 2005-06, and the figure is swelling with 418 babies born in the past 10 months.

The new Docklands based Maternal and Child Health service will help foster a sense of community for all families with children, and will include initiatives such as new parent groups.

Increasing the access to local health services is a priority for the City of Melbourne with more than 100 children currently enrolled in Maternal and Child Health services in the Docklands precinct.

The Hub, at 17 Waterview Walk, houses two playgroups where more than 20 family groups have the opportunity to socialise in a safe and supportive environment. The City of Melbourne expects to incorporate more family support groups, counselling, and social work services into the centre in the future. The facility will also offer referrals to other services including legal advice, health, housing and immigration.

The Hub will provide free parent information sessions with topics covering child development, basic first-aid and CPR, childhood illnesses, behaviour management and sleep settling of babies. Sessions will be free and conducted by early childhood professionals, dieticians, doctors and nurses.

The service is due to open mid-year.

Meet the parents

The City of Melbourne Family Services Team has developed a Parent Information program to provide free and accessible information to all families within the municipality.

Developed to provide community education, awareness and support to families on a range of parenting topics, the program will run weekly across three venues (in North Melbourne, East Melbourne and Carlton) until 28 June. From July 2007, these sessions will also run out of The Hub in Docklands.

Families with children of all ages are invited to attend any session at any venue. Refreshments will be available afterwards. There is no cost and bookings are not required. Enquiries can be made to The Carlton Family Resource Centre on 9340 1422.

Onboard

More people getting Onboard

June 2007 will mark the first anniversary of Onboard Docklands, the Docklands Community Intranet. In the past year, Onboard has received more than 21,000 visits from interested community members and is currently averaging more than 85 visits per day.

The Community Intranet exists to provide information and communication opportunities to the Docklands community. During the past year, Onboard has:

- Listed the details of over 150 local businesses;
- Published information about 101 local events;
- Posted 125 notices on its Notice Board;
- Carried 90 local news articles; and

- Surveyed information through 12 monthly polls.

Onboard is available free to residents, workers and businesses in Docklands and enables them to post news and information about their activities for the benefit of the broader community.

Visit www.onboarddocklands.com and join more than 2,000 other Docklanders getting Onboard every month.

Are you an international student living in Docklands?

Do you know about AFIS – the Australian Federation of International Students Inc? AFIS is a non-profit incorporated association, established in 2002 to address issues specific to international students. As a non-profit community organisation, AFIS is committed to generating multicultural awareness and planning cultural events in the general community.

The primary aim of AFIS is to create awareness among students about the diversity of activities available to them, and to enrich their experience of living and studying in Australia. AFIS supports international students regardless of their culture or land of origin and the type of education in which they are engaged. AFIS aims to embrace international students from different backgrounds who have decided to spend their student period of life in Australia.

If you would like to become involved with AFIS contact info@internationalstudents.org.au or visit www.internationalstudents.org.au

Residents achieve reduction in Docklands railyard noise

by Roger Gardner

Last year a committee of NewQuay residents was formed to raise the issue of noise from the railyards across Footscray Road. The yards are used under long-term lease as a major steel distribution centre, operated by Pacific National and Bluescope Steel. Steel from various production mills is shipped in by rail and offloaded onto road transport. Noise arises from the moving of steel sections.

Unfortunately the noise was not taken into account in the Docklands redevelopment planning. Government Authorities advised that the committee approach the companies direct.

The committee is pleased to report to residents that both Pacific National and Bluescope Steel are cooperating in investigating solutions. Ongoing review meetings are being held between senior representatives of both companies and the committee, which are resulting in positive outcomes.

Beeping on both overhead cranes and forklifts has quietened significantly, and material handling methods, which have produced loud noise from dragging and dropping of steel sections, are being modified. Further improvements are anticipated.

For further information contact Roger Gardner, Committee Chair, on 0412 097 706.

A new chapter - introducing the Melbourne Library Service

In April 2007, the City of Melbourne bid farewell to the joint council Yarra-Melbourne library service and resumed direct management of the libraries located in the Melbourne municipality.

This move will consolidate resources to develop a new service tailored to the needs of the changing community and create a new public library service for staff, residents and visitors.

Libraries in Melbourne and Yarra were managed by the Yarra-Melbourne Regional Library Corporation for the past 10 years, but the corporation wound up in April to give both councils an opportunity to pursue their own library models.

Library users will not notice any major changes in libraries in the immediate future, and will still be able to borrow books and other materials from libraries in the Melbourne and Yarra municipalities.

The City of Melbourne's population has grown significantly since the Yarra-Melbourne Regional Library Corporation was established. This new direction for Melbourne's libraries will ensure they can meet the expectations of a growing population. The City of Melbourne will be able to extend its library services and introduce initiatives such as youth, cultural and seniors programs.

The new Melbourne Library Service will include:

- City Library at 253 Flinders Lane, Melbourne;
- East Melbourne Library at 122 George Street, East Melbourne;
- North Melbourne Library at 66 Errol Street, North Melbourne; and
- LibraryLink at Domain Café in South Yarra.

Visit the Melbourne Library Service website at www.melbourne.vic.gov.au/libraries

Yum Cha Dragon

Chinese BBQ & Restaurant

Waterfront City's new restaurant features the lively 'yum cha' style dining. In Melbourne, yum cha is usually served only at lunch, but Yum Cha Dragon has broken this tradition and offers it for both lunch and dinner.

On the yum cha menu you will find a variety of smaller sized dishes – order from the menu or straight from the yum cha trolley as it goes past your table.

A la carte style dining is also available. For special occasion dining you can't go past one of Yum Cha Dragon's amazing seafood or barbeque platters. Waiters get so excited when you order a platter, they celebrate by sounding the gong for all to hear! Open seven days.

Docklands Community Association

This month the DCA will hold its Annual General Meeting. Anyone with a vision for Docklands is invited to attend this important meeting and take part in helping shape the community. In particular, the Association is encouraging the concept of each area in Docklands having a representative on the DCA committee.

As a new DCA committee member, you will assist in reinvigorating the Association, keeping it fresh, inclusive and diverse. A committee member post is a great experience. Previously, committee members have taken roles such as President, Vice President, Secretary and Treasurer. Other members can assist in roles such as:

- Writing a monthly magazine article (250 words);
- Organising social events eg meet your neighbours nights and guest speakers;
- Conducting membership promotions; and
- Liaising on Docklands issues.

For all nomination forms visit www.onboarddocklands.com All forms must be in by the AGM, and next year's membership of $10 is due on the night.

Please enclose nomination forms in an envelope marked "Docklands Community Association - AGM" and deliver to The Hub, 17 Waterview Walk, Docklands 3008 by 5 June.

Upcoming meetings

Christmas in July: This will be the fifth year that Docklands celebrates a winter Christmas. This social event is fun, lively and a fabulous way to party with neighbours. More information will be available closer to the date.

The DCA is available to anyone who lives, works or is a rate-payer in Docklands. For further information, please email DCA president Lisa Muscatello - lisa@staffconnect.com.au

Dragon boats take on 'The Amazing Rice'

The dragon boat 'come n' try day' for Docklands residents on Sunday 22 April was a huge success, according to organiser Neil Crossthwaite.

After being taken through a safety drill, the Docklands newcomers were recruited into five existing teams for the rest of the day. Teams came from Geelong, Ballarat and around Melbourne to participate.

The format of the day saw teams participate in 'The Amazing Rice', adopting a format not dissimilar to that used on television's The Amazing Race. Teams paddled around Victoria Harbour guided by clues, which lead them to their hidden jar of rice. The first team to return with the rice was the winner.

A barbeque awaited the hungry competitors on their return and a great day was had by all.

The fun was all recorded by popular lifestyle and travel show, Coxy's Big Break, to be aired in July. Coxy's presenter for the day, Melissa Hetherington, was fortunate enough to be in the winning team.

Neil hopes that Docklands residents enjoyed their first taste of dragon boating and will become involved with the Docklands Residents' Team to be formed in time for next season.

Those who missed the day should not despair - email admin@dragonboatsvictoria.com.au for details of future training sessions.

Improving safety in Docklands

Visitors and residents of Docklands alike may notice the presence of parking officers in their new tan uniforms. Officers have a dual role to both protect the community and act as an information point, and to ensure that access to parking remains equitable, fair and legal.

The City of Melbourne has been providing parking enforcement services to Docklands for over three years and this will continue past 1 July 2007, when Docklands officially becomes a part of the City of Melbourne municipality.

From July onwards there will be a greater number of parking officers in Docklands who will be working to improve community safety, eliminate illegal parking, and ensure equitable access to parking spaces. Of course many parts of Docklands are still construction areas which necessitate a focus on safety.

Considering the events focus in Docklands, parking officers play a vital role in ensuring vehicle access is fairly shared by individuals with competing interests. Parking officers help improve perceptions of public safety in Docklands.

Docklands residents and visitors are encouraged to look at signage before parking to ensure they comply and do not get booked. If in doubt, please contact the City of Melbourne direct on 9658 9658.

Support for depression

It is estimated that at least 40 per cent of the population have unidentified or untreated depression, many of whom experience a downward spiral in confidence and self-esteem, which has negative repercussions on family relationships, work and social life.

Inner city residents can be particularly vulnerable to depression as they face city living demands and excessive work commitments. Consequently, their health and well-being can often be overlooked, leading to increased stress – a hidden pre-cursor to depression. One key factor to successfully managing and overcoming depression is to address and treat symptoms before they exacerbate. Unfortunately, signs of depression are often neglected due to the social stigma associated with mental illness and lack of accessible resources to combat depression.

With the support of the City of Melbourne, depressioNet will be distributing brochures and posters around Docklands as part of the organisation's goal that no person living with depression should ever feel alone.

"The intention is to reduce the impact of depression by improving awareness and offering our online services to Docklands," Terry Houguet-Pincham, General Manager of depressioNet said.

Depression directly and indirectly impacts many people in our community, either personally, or through friends, family and colleagues. Depression can be an extremely distressing experience which can involve isolation, feelings of guilt, worthlessness, changes in sleeping patterns and appetite, poor concentration, significant weight gain/loss, suicidal thoughts and increased lethargy. While it can be a relatively short-term problem for some, depression can also be a lifelong battle for others. If you feel you may have depression it is important to see your GP.

For further information, help and support regarding depression, please visit www.depressioNet.com.au To enquire about volunteering at depressioNet, email jill@depressioNet.com.au or visit the website.

Show your visitors a good time

As the newest part of the city, Docklands is on every Melburnian's must-see list! So as a Docklands resident, you may have found yourself entertaining many friends and family who have come into the city to have a look at Melbourne's newest attraction.

roving City Ambassadors; the Melbourne Greeter Service; and the Melbourne City Tourist Shuttle.

All of the services are staffed by a combination of friendly volunteers and staff, local Melburnians like you, who are passionate about our city and are fully trained in what there is to see and do in the city. They're just as keen to tell people about Docklands as you are and may have some ideas you haven't thought of.

For more information on the City of Melbourne's visitor services, phone 9658 9658 or visit www.thatsmelbourne.com.au

If you're ever stuck on things to do with visitors, why not take advantage of the great visitor services in the city for some ideas, including all the up-to-date information on what's happening in Docklands, maps, and brochures.

The City of Melbourne operates five visitor information services: the Melbourne Visitor Centre at Federation Square; the Melbourne Visitor Booth in the Bourke Street Mall;

Need a little help to get around?

The Melbourne Mobility Centre is a unique service dedicated to improving access for all, in the heart of Melbourne.

People with disabilities, older people and anyone needing a little extra help to get around will welcome the centre's range of services, designed to make any trip to the city easier and more enjoyable.

The service is located on the first floor, lower level of Federation Square Car Park. The car park lift opens at the Mobility Centre on level one. Ground level entry is through the car park doorway adjacent to the playground (ArtPlay) on the Yarra River side of Federation Square.

The mobility centre offers:

- Equipment for hire, including motorised wheelchairs, manual wheelchairs, scooters, walking frames, crutches and canes for the vision impaired;
- Two fully accessible toilets;

Fire and ice winter celebration for Docklands

The City of Melbourne will present a spectacular visual feast for one special Saturday night in winter.

The Docklands Fire & Ice Spectacular will come to life from sunset on 7 July with a breathtaking performance in the Waterfront City Piazza. Watch the elements collide with giant ice-sculpture unicorns interplaying with a magical fire sculpture, live entertainment and some of Melbourne's most loved buskers lining the promenade. Dine in at Docklands' restaurants with special offers, and tie in your night ice-skating session down at the Snow Dome at Docklands Winter Wonderland. Top off the night with a dazzling display of wintery fireworks on the waterfront.

Brave the cold and embrace arts and culture, as the City welcomes the winter months with a calendar of events to coax you out of bed on the coldest of mornings. From arts and design to the circus and sports, there is no need to hide away this winter.

Once again in 2007, Melbourne Winter Masterpieces will be the centrepiece of a stellar line up of winter events that will intrigue, inspire and delight people of all ages. This year two exhibitions will be held, one at the National Gallery of Victoria and the other at the Australian Centre for the Moving Image.

For further information visit www.thatsmelbourne.com.au or call the City of Melbourne Hotline on 9658 9658.

A taste of Portugal for Docklands

The Portuguese community in Melbourne invites you to experience its magnificent culture.

A Taste of Portugal Festival, at Waterfront City, will feature traditional folk dancing and music, as well as music and dance from East Timor and Brazil. The Festival will also feature arts and crafts displays and activities for children. Traditional Portuguese food, popular wines, beers and soft drinks will be available to enjoy.

The date of the event, 10 June, is when Portugal celebrates its identity: a day when Portuguese people across the world hold events to celebrate their country.

The festival's organising group, The CLP (Portuguese speaking communities), aims to promote social and cultural integration within the Australian community. All the people working on the festival are volunteers from various Portuguese, East Timorese and Brazilian groups across Melbourne.

Looking within ourselves

The original Amazing Human Body Exhibition is set to get under everyone's skin when it arrives at Waterfront City on 30 June 2007.

The educational exhibit aims to provide audiences with a unique and visually-informative perspective on the inner workings of the human body. The exhibition, which will run for three months, displays real human specimens, preserved through a method called 'plastination'.

During the process of plastination, about 70 per cent of the body (mainly fluids and fat) is replaced by polymers such as silicone rubber or polyester resin that retain all tissue structure via a special vacuum process. The technique can take up to 5,000 hours for a full-body plastinate.

The Amazing Human Body presents around 400 real human specimens and aims to inspire people to learn more about how the human body functions and how lifestyle choices affect the body.

This Amazing exhibition has begun its Australian/New Zealand tour and has enthralled nearly 300,000 visitors across Australia in recent months. Its next location, the Waterfront City Pavilion, also housed The Leonardo DaVinci Machines last year.

Tickets will be on sale from 9am, Monday 11 June through Ticketmaster. Phone 136 100 or visit www.amazinghumanbody.com.au

All bodies featured in the exhibition have been donated willingly for scientific purposes. The exhibits come from the Tianjin Natural History Museum in China, and The Amazing Human Body Exhibition has a permit from the Department of Culture in China.

MECCA BAH

There are plenty of 'good' restaurants in Docklands, however I wouldn't classify Mecca Bah as mundanely as that. Mecca Bah is a professional operation offering tried and tested recipes that are made with care and seem to warm your soul. Add to that friendly staff and an exotic, cosy atmosphere and you have one of Docklands' superior venues.

One of the first things I notice is that for a busy venue, it still feels intimate. This comes down to lighting, which in my opinion is crucial to any venue's atmosphere. The circular shaped room is warmly lit with an array of tubular down-lights, Moroccan lamps and candles on every table. A small torch is supplied to aid our perusal of the menu, which is a quirky, albeit practical touch. The location is second to none; our table by the window is a pin drop from the water and how anyone couldn't marvel at these magnificent night-time Melbourne vistas is beyond me.

The food here is best described as modern Moroccan/Middle Eastern and for starters we choose three dishes from a great selection of 17 mezze plates. The Middle Eastern Coleslaw with Pastirma ($8) is a mix of lovely fresh flavours and pinenuts. The pastirma (an air-dried, cured, smoked beef) enlivens the dish superbly. Another mezze, the Bastilla Moroccan Chicken Pastries ($10.50), consisted of three sweet-spiced parcels with pinenuts and cinnamon. Light, with a chewy pastry, these delicate parcels are well worth a try. The third choice, the Tunisian Carrot Salad ($7.50), was a neat pile of slightly firm and perfect looking carrots, lightly spiced and coated with olives, parsley and cumin based flavours. Again, interesting and enjoyable.

For mains we shared two dishes. The Moroccan Lamb Tagine ($19), with preserved lemon, green olives and harissa was wonderfully tender, sweet and fragrant. Served with couscous at the base and a thick rich sauce, this dish was a definite favourite and understandably a popular choice here. The Spiced Chicken Turkish Pizza ($17.50) was also very tasty, with eggplant, rocket and a tahini sauce. The soft thin crust twisted around the generous topping of tender, lightly spiced chicken was balanced well by the dollops of yoghurt based tahini sauce atop.

There is a good selection of wine varieties by the glass at Mecca Bah. We tried the impressive Cobaw Ridge Chardonnay '00 ($11.50) and an '04 Holly's Garden Pinot ($9), but the selection available by the bottle is particularly good and is bound to please patrons on both variety and price.

Turkish ice cream features strongly on the dessert menu, with plenty of enticing flavours available. We tried a trio of the more delicate Date & Vanilla, the rich and delicious Turkish Coffee, and our favourite, Middle Eastern Halva, a creamy and delightful replica of the original dessert.

Mecca Bah didn't disappoint on any level. It's not fine dining, but that's part of what makes it work; great food, good service and a comfortable, friendly atmosphere. Especially coming into the winter months, the style of food here should be a very enticing option.

WIN WIN WIN As You Like It Competition

April edition winner:
The winner of the dinner for two at Fish Seafood Grill & Rotisserie is Eric Gant. He correctly answered that the largest species of fish is the whale shark. Well done and enjoy your meal, Eric.

The winner of the Hanging Rock Kilfara Pinot Noir '05 is Brad White. He correctly answered that Burgundy, France is indeed the home of Pinot Noir.

June Competition:
For your chance to win dinner for two at Mecca Bah, including a glass of wine, simply answer the following question:

Where does most of the world's coffee come from?

Or for your chance to win a bottle of Yering Station 2004 Yarra Valley Merlot, answer the following question:

Where does Vanilla come from?

Talking Plonk

Task: Inouk and her dad Bruce share a bottle of wine from Docks on the Rocks.

Plonk: Yering Station Yarra Valley Merlot, 2004

RRP: $21.99

Background: Victoria's first vineyard, Yering Station, is located in the 'heart' of the Yarra Valley and is renowned for producing award-winning wines of world-class quality and distinction. Led by Chief Winemaker Tom Carson, Yering Station produces 15 styles of wine under six distinctive wine labels.

Conversation:

- I: I'm immediately taken with the nose; it smells great.
- B: It's good on the nose and has a lovely, brilliant garnet colour.
- I: I find it smooth and well balanced. Some people may be surprised by its depth as a Merlot variety.
- B: Agreed – this has intense tannic grip, sweet ripe fruit and it shows; there's much more concentration of flavours to the Merlots of old. This is a 'good thinking Merlot'.
- I: Well what do you 'think' it would like to be matched with?
- B: This will stand up to something rich, perhaps something tomatoey, or certainly red meat. You've cooked us a traditional lasagna and I think Italian food is a perfect match.
- I: Well that's a wise answer, but I do agree, and that's not just because I'm playing chef!
- B: The flavours really do unfold in your mouth and at close to $20, this is an exciting wine.
- I: Absolutely – good value and a very nice wine. Give this one a go.

You'll find this wine at Docks On The Rocks, which specialises in boutique and smaller wine producers, particularly from around Victoria. Shop 23-25 Rakaia Way, NewQuay Tel: 9642 3070

Experience the digital Docklands

Those who are familiar with Docklands may still have an interesting pocket to discover; Digital Harbour, located opposite Telstra Dome, represents the spirit of Australian technology and innovation.

Modelled on some of the world's most successful technology precincts, Digital Harbour is an environmentally sustainable, technological 'urban campus' community, where Melbourne's 'technorati' can mingle, build and share their knowledge and experience.

But Digital Harbour is not only the destination for digital entrepreneurs; it boasts a number of attractions.

Field of Play - Launched in April, Field of Play is a revolutionary new interactive public art installation and also a computer game. The general public can play the game using their mobile phone or PC (www.fieldofplay.net), while spectators in Harbour Lane experience the action via illuminated icons built into laneway paving, and outdoor speakers. VicUrban Director of Urban Art, Vanessa Walker, says Field of Play adds a new dimension to the Melbourne Docklands Urban Art program, allowing people to immerse themselves in an interactive environment that is an integral part of one of Melbourne's newest laneways.

FRAMED - An innovative series of free monthly lunchtime lectures showcasing the hottest trends and issues in digital media and digital filmmaking. Sessions are presented by leading practitioners in film, television and digital media, and include a screening of works.

TenTen Café/Bar - Located on the ground floor of the 1010 La Trobe building and spilling out into Harbour Lane, TenTen is a new addition to Docklands. Offering a variety of wholesome light meals including a footy inspired menu, diners can also sit back and be entertained by Field of Play, adjacent to the café.

Reflex Café - Nestled on the ground floor of the Innovation Building, Reflex Café is the meeting ground for digital entrepreneurs and a perfect destination for an affordable, quick, light snack and coffee hit.
